Objective

The UK's withdrawal from the EU and hence from the European criminal justice area has significant consequences for judicial cooperation in criminal matters.

This seminar will focus on the post-Brexit relationship between the EU and the UK in this area. It will give participants an overview of which elements in European criminal justice are affected during the transition period and how future post-Brexit cooperation between the EU and the UK may look beyond.

Who should attend?

EU officials, civil servants, lawyers in private practice, judiciary, academics

You will learn...

- about the consequences of Brexit for EU criminal law
- about the current situation in relation to criminal justice tools and instruments during the transition period
- what will be the consequences for the UK of access to EU databases and information-sharing as a third country
- how lawyers are and will be affected by Brexit

What participants liked in 2018
