Objective

The goal of this four-session online workshop is to develop a comprehensive understanding of the key legal aspects of EU water legislation and to exchange views among judges from various Member States regarding this topic. Emphasis will be given to the analysis of the main obligations relating to water management enshrined in the Water Framework Directive as well as to the main provisions deriving from the legislation regulating discharges in water. In addition to this, the spotlight will be placed on water protection through criminal law as well as on access to justice in water-related cases both at EU and national level. By addressing these issues concerning the implementation of the EU water laws and the EU and national challenges relating to water pollution litigation, the workshop aspires to facilitate the handling of future national court proceedings in this field.
