About the CiviLink Project

CiviLink: Connecting Borders through e-CODEX Judicial Training is a European project coordinated by the National Institute of Magistracy (NIM - Romania), in collaboration with the Centre for Judicial Studies (CEJ – Portugal), the Judicial School of the General Council for the Judiciary (CGPJ – Spain), the National Institute of Justice (NIJ – Bulgaria), the National School of Judiciary and Public Prosecution (KSSiP – Poland), the School of the Judiciary (SSM – Italy), and the European Judicial Training Network (EJTN).

The project aims to strengthen cross-border judicial cooperation in civil matters by equipping judges with practical skills for using the e-CODEX system in the application of Recast Regulations (EU) 2020/1783 and 2020/1784 on the service of documents and taking of evidence.

Through a comprehensive blended learning cycle, the project combines six transnational seminars, each preceded by an introductory webinar, and supported by e-learning tools including tutorials and reflective podcasts, all conducted in English. This structured approach not only enhances practical skills but also fosters cross-border dialogue among justice professionals, facilitating a harmonized application of EU law in civil cases across six Member States.

CiviLink Training Cycle Description

The CiviLink project offers a structured, blended learning path for European judges, combining digital and in-person training to enhance cross-border cooperation in civil matters using e-CODEX and the Recast Regulations (EU) 2020/1783 and 2020/1784.
